HOPE FOR VICTORY
Claiming That Two-Thirds
of Loss Falls Upon Employer.

Brussels, Belgium, April 19.—Twelve million dollars is the figure compiled in trustworthy circles of Belgium's loss the first six days of the strike for equal political rights which has been joined by about 400,000 men, half the male working population of the country.

Two-thirds of this loss of $2,000,000 a day falls, according to the socialist trade union leaders upon the employers and supporters of the existing system.

The organizers of the strike affirm that the men by exercising self-discipline can hold out as long as the capitalists are willing to endure their deprivation of dividends for a political reason only.

All appearances go to show that the strike will continue for a considerable period, as the determination of the men is met by the equally firm rejection of any idea of compromise by Premier Charles De Broqueville and the other cabinet ministers. The premier declares that he did not offer his resignation to King Albert on Thursday, as reported, nor will he consent to submit to a referendum of the country the demand of the men for equal suffrage.

The printers of the capital struck at midnight but the newspapers were practically ready for publication at that hour all appeared this morning. Even the men employed on the socialist organ "Le Peuple" walked out but enough will be permitted to stay to print a sheet containing strike news. Some of the evening papers came out today in reduced form.

The strike also extended to the tailors in Brussels today and there is a marked increase in the total of men who have joined the movement. From the provinces come reports of their intention to succeed on the part of the men. Reports of minor incidents of violence have been received from various quarters but as a rule all is pacific.

Antwerp, Belgium, April 19.—The strike of the dockers and wharf laborers at this seaport is extending. The number of men who have quit work has reached 21,000. Many of the lighters which could not be unloaded here were sent to Rotterdam but the wharf laborers there refused to do the work.

La Louviere, Belgium, April 19.—Perfect quiet obtains among the strikers here. A considerable amount of recruiting is being carried out by the strikers.

Herstal, Belgium, April 19.—A small number of employees of the National Arms factory here who work on Monday in a body returned to their duties today.

Seraing, Belgium, April 19.—The first act of violence here since the strike began occurred while the commandant of the military police was giving a dinner party last night. When the guests were at a table a large bottle was hurled through the window and fell among them. No one was injured.

Hoge, Belgium, April 19.—The strike situation throughout this industrial region remains stationary but the men are as determined as ever to remain out and secure equal suffrage. The mayor has dismissed the civil guards giving as his reason that they are not needed to keep order.

Mons, Belgium, April 19.—The workmen's trains conveying non-strikers on one of the suburban lines were delayed for several hours this morning by obstruction on the tracks. Strikers during the night had transferred the contents of a great lumber yard onto the railroad's right of way.

NEW AMBASSADOR
FROM BRITANNIA
ON WAY OVER HERE.

London, April 19.—Sir Cecil Arden-Clay, the new British ambassador to the United States, left London today for Liverpool to sail for New York on the Campania.

He will assume the duties of his office as British ambassador immediately on his arrival in Washington, he said before his departure. "My family will come on later."

The staff of the United States embassy, Lady Pauncefort and the Duke of Devonshire, were at the station to take farewell of the ambassador, who succeeds James Bryce as ambassador to America on the steamer.

HOPE LIVED AFTER
FAITH AND CHARITY
HAD BOTH EXPIRED.

Greenwich, Conn., April 19.—The death here of Mrs. Hope Trower Allcorn, the last of triplets born in England eighty years ago, named Faith, Hope, and Charity is announced. Charity lived to be only 52 years old. Faith died at the age of seventy four.

STAGE MOVIE PLAY
FOR EDUCATION OF
SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Washington, April 19.—Motion pictures as an aid to education in the public schools is to be tried out by the local board of education. Already a long step toward the installation of the machines in several of the schools has been taken and the idea has appealed so strongly to the teaching staffs that they and members of the normal school classes have already staged a "movie" play.

FIGHT ON LEPROSY
MADE DIFFICULT
THROUGH POLITICS.

Washington, April 19.—Politics is retarding the eradication of leprosy in the Hawaiian islands, although the dread disease is gradually growing less common through the dying off of the natives, according to a report received today by the United States public health service from Surgeon George W. McCoy. Recommendations that periodical examination be made of everyone in the islands, says Dr. McCoy, cannot be carried out because the increased tax that would have to be levied is fought bitterly.

ASSAULT ON
LEGISLATORShould Not be Allowed to Pass Unnoticed, Says
Garrett.CITES FORMER CASE
IN JACKSON'S TERM.Sam Houston Attacked
Stanbury, Was Arrested,
Tried and Reprimanded.

Washington, April 19.—Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, conferred with Speaker Clark and looked up precedents today preparatory to bringing the attention of the house to the assault yesterday upon Representative Sims by Charles C. Glover, a local banker.

Mr. Glover, in public statements admits he struck Representative Sims in the face twice. Garrett declared today the incident should not be permitted to pass without notice from the house.

"I find in looking up the precedents," said Mr. Garrett, "that there is one case in which the house took action in an assault upon a member as a result of statements made on the floor by that member. It was in Jackson's administration. Representative Stanbury, of Ohio, in a speech criticized Sam Houston, a former member of congress and former governor of Tennessee. Houston was aroused by the remarks and lay in wait for Stanbury near the botanical gardens armed with a hickory stick. When Stanbury approached Houston attacked him. Houston was arrested, tried before the house and reprimanded."

Mr. Garrett contemplates submitting a resolution in the present case when the house meets Monday. "I know nothing about the merits of the controversy between Mr. Sims and Mr. Glover," said Mr. Garrett, "but the constitution provides that members of congress must not be held personally accountable for statements made on the floor in debate and an assault of this character cannot be left unnoticed."

BOY SCOUTS GET MEDALS.

Washington, April 19.—Boy Scouts in khaki today thronged Pennsylvania avenue in greater numbers than at any time since March 3, when they aided the police in protecting the suffragists' marchers on that day. They were to receive medals from the women in appreciation for their assistance on that occasion. The presentation took place in a downtown theatre.

BAXTER IN COLUMBUS.

Columbus, O., April 19.—Frank E. Baxter, until recently state supervisor of banks, has surrendered himself today to Deputy Sheriff Brennan, has made an indictment charging him with a public offer, converting to his own use $27,000 of the funds of the Columbus Savings and Trust Company.

Shortly after an exposure of this matter was made several weeks ago Baxter resigned his state office. He was accompanied into court by his attorney, Kent Hughes of Lima, and his brother, Clem Baxter, who was during the last term of court indicted for embezzling funds of the Columbus Savings and Trust Company which he was examining.

Baxter pleaded not guilty to Judge Kinkaid and was released under $2,000 bond signed by the American Surety Company. The appearance in court of Mr. Baxter follows the indictment of Isaac B. Cameron and Henry W. Backhaus, who already have given bond for their appearance. It is understood that one or more officials of the bank may yet appear to answer to indictments which are said to have been returned but which have not yet been made known.

The indictments followed sensational testimony during an investigation of the affairs of the Columbus Savings and Trust Company, which was begun several weeks ago and which did not end until the grand jury, which returned the indictments, went into session.

SUFFRAGET BOMB TROOPAttempts to Blow Up One of Most Historic Towers
in England.LIGHTHOUSE BUILT
IN 16TH CENTURYStands Today Only Because Vandal Women Failed
in Efforts.

Plymouth, England, April 19.—A militant suffragette "bomb troop" this morning attempted to blow up the famous Smeaton tower on Plymouth Hoe. The tower is the original eddystone lighthouse, built by John Smeaton in 1758-59, dismantled when it had become antiquated, and re-erected on the Hoe as a historic relic. As in many instances of recent date the bomb employed by the militants failed to explode. It consisted of the usual cylindrical tin canister filled with explosive and with a fuse attached at the top. The bomb was placed by the women under the entrance gate of the tower. The fuse had been lighted but was apparently extinguished by the wind.

On the cylinder the women had painted in bold letters the words "Votes for women: Death in ten minutes!" while all around was scattered suffrage literature.

Don't Want to Vote.

Washington, April 19.—Anti-suffragists appeared in force today in the capital, prepared to protest to the senate women suffrage committee against any constitutional amendment giving the right of franchise to their sex. They expressed regret that only two hours had been allotted them in which to present their arguments but they settled down to make the best of their time, because of the large number of women expected the meeting was held in the judiciary committee's room.

Among the principal speakers to present the view of the opposition to woman suffrage were Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, president of the National Association opposed to woman suffrage; Mrs. A. J. George, secretary of the Massachusetts branch of the organization and Miss Lucy J. Price, one of its foremost lecturers and workers. The women also brought with them letters of protest from many anti-suffragists throughout the country. Among them were arguments written by Kate Douglas Wiggin and Molly Elliott Sewall, author who condemned the suffrage cause. Those were in the care of Mrs. Francis M. Scott, a pioneer in the anti-suffragist movement.

FATALLY CRUSHED
UNDER STRUCTURE
WHILE MOVING IT.

Ravenna, O., April 19.—George Kline, 55, was killed and Harry Conkle, 50, probably fatally hurt near Randolph Center, ten miles south of here, when a small frame school house, which they were moving, slid from its trucks and pinned the two beneath it.

The accident occurred Friday afternoon. Kline died today and Conkle is at the point of death. He has one leg broken in two places and internal injuries.

Kline, who was a blacksmith, is survived by a widow and eight children. He had bought the building, formerly a school at Wheeler's Corners, and was moving it to his property two miles distant.

POPE CONTINUES TO IMPROVE.

POPE PIUS X. GIVING HIS BLESSING.

Rome, April 19.—Professor Ritoro Marchisava and Dr. Andrea Angelini, the papal physicians announced today that owing to the continued improvement in the pope's condition only one bulletin a day would now be issued from the sick room. This morning's bulletin read as follows:

His Holiness passed a very tranquil night, with his temperature standing this morning at 97.1. His coughing spells and expectoration have further diminished, and his general condition is stronger and better. Owing to the continued amelioration only one bulletin daily will be published.

Signed, "Marchisava, Angelini."

For the first time since the beginning of the pope's illness, Angelo Sarto, his brother, was allowed to see him this morning. Professor Marchisava had not permitted the meeting during the critical period of the pope's indisposition and the doctor insisted that he be present today. He rested in the apartment shared by the encounter between the two brothers might have a bad effect on his patient.

Angelo Sarto, who is still sturdy, about all kinds of subjects but Professor Marchisava gently intervened and forced Angelo Sarto from the room.

A rumor was circulated in Rome soon afterward, that the pope had suffered from a fainting fit as a consequence of the emotion caused by the visit of his brother. The report, however, was denied at the Vatican.

Pope Pius for the first time since his illness, and his sisters bunched at great and stalwart, despite his age, the pope's brother, with Angelo approached his brother's room with a reprieve and was even more warmly greeted here as proof that the pope is stronger as he entered. Both were really entering on the convalescent stage.

The pope slept tranquilly for two hours this afternoon. His breathing was easier and his rest more refreshing than it had been.

JAILED BY ONE JUDGE,
NOW FOUND NOT GUILTYOwner of the Kansas City
STAR Convicted for Contempt of Court.HAS HIS INNING

Supreme Court Scores
Offending Judge.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 19.—William R. Nelson, editor and owner of the Kansas City Star was found not guilty of malice in the publication of the article for which he was adjudged guilty of contempt of court and sentenced to a day in jail last February by Circuit Judge Joseph A. Guthrie. "The article published was substantially true and unless in itself is in contemptuous, the petitioner should be discharged."

Those were the findings reported to the Missouri supreme court today by its commissioner in the case of Charles C. Crow of Kansas City.

The article complained of stated that Judge Guthrie had refused to dismiss the divorce suit of Minnie L. against Claude Cleveland until attorney's fees were paid and that the refusal came after the Cleveringers had been reconciled and had asked the dismissal of the case.

"Your commissioner finds," says the report, "from the evidence submitted and considered, that the article referred to was substantially true and as nearly a correct report of court proceedings as could be expected from a layman and the experience of your commissioner has been that many lawyers would have made as many errors as appear in this article."

The author of this article complained of, Mr. Murphy, was a layman, and moreover even had been learned in the law he would have

of Judge Guthrie and bearing thereon, the report says:

"Your commissioner admitted over the objection of the petitioner articles appearing in the Kansas City Star and published by the petitioner by your commissioner is of the opinion that the articles which were in this record should be excluded."

The ruling, the report says, applies to all articles except an interview with Judge Ralph Luskaw, of the criminal court. The interview published in the Star, quoted Judge Luskaw as saying the decision of Judge Guthrie was "outrageous," and that he would "never allow Mr. Nelson to be locked up in jail."

The report holds that this article should be excluded for the additional reason that it is a publication of a statement made by a judge of the criminal court of Jackson county referring to what the judge intended to do officially. "In the opinion of your commissioner this interview should be stricken from the record on the ground that it was scandalous on the part of the judge giving it. Your commissioner cannot find serious fault with a layman for repeating the statement."

The supreme court today set May 1 for the hearing of Mr. Nelson's case by the court en banc. The case was carried to the supreme court by Mr. Nelson on appeal from Judge Guthrie's decision.

tion of Miami.

Columbus, O., April 19.—The congressional gerrymander bill was sent through the house Friday afternoon without debate, although a half-hundred lusty voices were raised in protest.

While some changes were made in boundaries, the districts, as provided in the bill, based on the 1908 vote, show 11 democratic and 11 republican. It is the belief of many who aided in the formation that fifteen are safely democratic. If present conditions are maintained, the change in district lines in Cleveland, wanted for the benefit of Robert Crowder, were made.

The districts, the political designation following each being based on 1908 vote, follows:

First—Hamilton, republican.

Birdman Killed at Chicago.

Chicago, April 19.—Otto W. Brodie, a professional aviator, was killed today by a fall of his machine from a height of 45 feet at the Aviation grounds on the west side. Brodie was head of a school of aviation and was testing a new machine. It is believed that his clothing caught in the fly-wheel of the engine.

Bold Maderistas Remove Breach Blocks From All
Cannon and Machine Guns
and Rub It in by Stealing
the Ammunition.

Nogales, Ariz., April 19.—Insurgent Sonora state troops early today began the bombardment of Guaymas by long distance artillery and rifle fire. The federal garrison of 600 was entrenched in the suburb of the California gulf city. The insurgents are said to number more than 1,000 with strong reinforcements on the way from Hermosillo, the state capital.

El Paso, Texas, April 19.—The Mexican federal garrison at Juarez found itself in a predicament today. Some daring persons had made away with the ammunition and the breach blocks of all cannon and machine guns, rendering the pieces useless. Complicating the situation was the fact that during the siege of Naco, Sonora, a large shipment of ammunition was sent through the United States for the relief of General Ojeda, and now Colonel Juan N. Vasquez finds himself in command of plenty of men at Juarez with virtually no artillery and little ammunition.

John Pierce, who was a Madero official in the border town, was arrested, but the breach blocks which may be duplicated only after much expense and time have not been found. The loss of ammunition is no less easily recovered. Mexican consular officials declare it was shipped to Naco by permission of the United States customs and military officials here. But the war was not permitted to cross to the Mexican side at Naco, Ariz., and remains held there by order of American officials. Juarez, it is predicted soon may need the ammunition as well as the breach blocks.

Panic stricken around the forty-five cent mark have caused somewhat of a panic along the border, not only in banking but in mercantile circles. Foodstuff prices are soaring in Chihuahua City and Juarez. The El Paso banking exchange is keeping one point below the Mexican city peso mark. Unsettled which has brought the price of the silver certificates lower than in many years is blamed on the growing revolution and the bankers' misgivings of the reserve fund at the Mexican capital.

NEARLY 10 PER CENT
LOSS OVER 1912.

New York, April 19.—Dun's Review today says: Bank exchange this week made a somewhat indifferent comparison with a year ago, the total at all leading cities in the United States amounting to $2,860,867,734, and showing a loss of 9.1 per cent. The falling off is mainly due to decreased clearings at New York, that city reporting a contraction of 13.6 per cent, much of which is undoubtedly caused by the reduced volume of trade on the stock and other speculative markets. The outside centers make a much more satisfactory exhibit, although the gain is only 0.5 per cent.

SELF DEFENSE PLEA

CARRIES NO WEIGHT

Portsmouth, O., April 12.—The jury in the case of Oscar Clarence "Jack" Wooten, the Wellston coal miner, who shot and killed his wife, Myrtle Wooten, saw her statement. Lou McInnes, in a local boarding house February 15, returned a verdict of murder in the second degree this morning after having had the case twelve hours. Wooten had claimed self-defense and that the shooting of his wife was accidental, he having been in an effort to induce her to return home. His attorneys have since moved for a new trial, but the case is thought to be ended.

17TH MARATHON
WON BY CARLSON
OF MINNEAPOLIS.

Boston, Mass., April 19.—Fliz Carlson, of Minneapolis, won the seventeenth Marathon race of the Boston Athletic association from Ashland to this city, today, a distance of 25 miles over rolling roads. His time was 2 hours, 25 minutes, 14.4 seconds.

The record for the course is 2 hours, 21 minutes, 18.1 seconds, made in 1911, by Mike Ryan of New York.

Andrew Sockalexis, the Oldtown, Maine, Indian, was second, his time being 2:27:14.4. Harry J. Smith of New York, was third; his time was 2:28:23.4-5.

"CHIC" FOLTZ AGREES.

Washington, April 19.—Drunken heads are parts of musical instruments within the meaning of the tariff law and dutiable at 45 per cent ad valorem, according to a decision of the customs court today. Importers claimed they should be admitted at 15 per cent duty as dressed skins.

NEW YORK LOSES ANOTHER.
New York, April 18.—New York lost another game to Washington today, Chance's men taking a 7 to 5 defeat after a plucky uphill fight in a long drawn out contest. Tom Hughes, the veteran pitcher of the visitors, while wild at times, was effective in every inning, except the seventh when the locals scored four runs on four base on balls and three singles.

Washington's base running and the batting of Almsmith, McBride and Chase were the features.

The Red Sox are well fixed behind the plate—perhaps the best in the league—with three experienced makers, and Thomas, a very promising youngster.

Carlin is a great catcher; but Cady, because of his ability to handle the wicked delivery of Joe Wood, probably will be the first catcher, and the chances are he will also catch Redent because of his handling of wild, fast pitching.

CARDS TAKE EASY GAME.

St. Louis, April 18.—St. Louis turned the tables on Chicago today, winning in easy fashion, 8 to 2. Three home runs were made by Mitchell, Magee and Sallee, each sending the ball over the right field fence. Chicago bunched a single and a home run in the first for their only runs. Sallee settled down after this and Chicago could do nothing with his curves. The score:

SPEED FIENDS WILL BE PITTED AGAINST FATHER TIME IN NERVE RACKING RACE BETWEEN AMERICANS AND FOREIGNERS

Seven Hour Gruelling Battle for Supremacy of Auto Race Track Will be Greatest Event in Speedway History.

With the famous Speedway trophies again to be contended for by the participants in the third annual 500 mile International Sweepstakes Race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30, and with several foreign cars promising to be formidable contenders for these trophies, the minds of many prominent American automobile manufacturers are now agitated to an unusual degree. The trophies have long been held in high esteem by the manufacturers, who have taken a greater interest in them than they have in the cash prizes. Since it became known that this year's 500 mile race would include Europe's fastest cars, the situation has become grave, for it would indeed be a blot on the scutcheon of America if these trophies, which have symbolized the victories of so many American cars, should be carried out of the country.

Automobile racing has never been reduced to the basis of commercialism. It still retains the high sporting flavor it did when it first became popular, and there is also a patriotic motive which influences the spirit of every race in which foreign cars are competing. Since the coming of the 500 mile event at the Indianapolis Speedway is the first race held in this country in which foreign cars have been actually entered by their

Schedule—Games on Saturday.

Final arrangements for a ten club church baseball league were completed last night at a special meeting at the Y. M. C. A., when officers were elected and a committee named to revise the constitution used last year.

Officers elected last night are: Melvin C. Light, of the Central Church of Christ, president; Raymond Howard, of the South Side Church of Christ, vice president; and Henry E. Neff, of the First Baptist, secretary and treasurer. The constitution committee includes A. K. Hall, Earl Sealts and Mert Roeder.

A schedule committee was also named which will get to work at once on arranging dates for the games. The opening game, it is said, will be played not later than May 10. Representatives from several churches were present last night and were urged to organize their teams as soon as possible.

One of the new proposals already brought before the commission is that Tuesday and Thursday games will be abandoned and Saturday substituted instead. The number of games to be played has not been decided upon.

It is evident that the great Honus has actually improved in the field—that he covers more ground, accepts more chances and yet makes far fewer errors. He can still hit almost as hard and often as ever, but he is less reliable in navigation. The old boy reaches first about as often as eight years back, but doesn't get all the way around as he used to do. Of all the shortstops who were in the National League in 1904, only two, Tinker and Wagner, now survive the grid of years. The rest have passed out of the arena, although Bill Dahlen, as a manager, is still seen in uniform.

Final arrangements for a ten club church baseball league were completed last night at a special meeting at the Y. M. C. A., when officers were elected and a committee named to revise the constitution used last year.

Officers elected last night are: Melvin C. Light, of the Central Church of Christ, president; Raymond Howard, of the South Side Church of Christ, vice president; and Henry E. Neff, of the First Baptist, secretary and treasurer. The constitution committee includes A. K. Hall, Earl Sealts and Mert Roeder.

A schedule committee was also named which will get to work at once on arranging dates for the games. The opening game, it is said, will be played not later than May 10. Representatives from several churches were present last night and were urged to organize their teams as soon as possible.

One of the new proposals already brought before the commission is that Tuesday and Thursday games will be abandoned and Saturday substituted instead. The number of games to be played has not been decided upon.

Howard Shanks is one of the cleverest left fielders in the game. When it comes to the fielding end of it, if he was as strong with the bat as would make Griffith's task much easier this season.

The Nationals are the object of much interest this year. The Washington fans expect them to go ahead at their 1912 speed and will be greatly disappointed if they don't. The team looks stronger than last season, and if Shanks will continue the good hitting that he has been doing this spring one of the two weak spots will be plugged up.

MEN WHOM WILSON

SELECT

Must be Wealthy or They Cannot Afford to Serve as Ambassadors.

EXPENSIVE PACE
FROM BEGINNING

Locaters of Underground

Dr. Mary Walker, American.
Has Strong Competition
in French Sister.

Paris, April 19.—The American
at home who reads the difficulty of finding suitable ambassadors because the salaries are so small may wonder why $17,500 a year isn't enough for any American family to live on, whether at home or abroad.
That sum does seem sufficient, and more, to the every-day onlooker until he sees what an ambassador and his wife are expected and really compelled to do. Then doubts may arise.

The first serious thing is the house. When the ambassador reaches his field of work he begins
to realize that his country will be judged by what he does; that he is no longer an individual American who may act as he pleases about
most things, but that his country
will be misjudged unless he conforms, to some extent, at least, to the ways in which other ambassadors do things. Therefore, he determines that he should occupy a house, and not live in a flat. If he cannot afford a house in the center
of the exclusive section, it must at least be on the fringe of this quarter. The house which has been occupied in Paris by several American ambassadors is neither large nor

particularly imposing, yet the rent is $12,000 a year unfurnished. The residence is about one-quarter as large as the British, the Russian or the German embassies. If the new ambassador should decide to take over the house of his predecessors,
two-thirds of his salary will go to rent. He may, by searching, find a smaller house, or he may engage a furnished apartment. The latter would save him an expense of about $5,000, the cost of moving his household goods from the United States to Paris and back again. But even a furnished apartment on the borders of the desirable districts
would cost him a third of his salary.

The ambassador and his wife, upon their arrival and continuously
thereafter, are invited to other embassies, to the entertainments of the high officials of government, and to the homes of the important people of the capital. Everywhere the ambassador and the members of his family find exquisite dinners, flowers, numerous servants, beautiful costumes. He does not choose his attendants as they are made for him
by his position as ambassador of the United States.

He is not invited on personal
grounds, but because he is the ambassador of one of the great governments. If he were not invited, the government of the United States
might have just cause of complaint.
If he did not go freely among his colleagues and people of equal rank
it might have further cause of complaint, and his work as an ambassador would be the more difficult.
The social life of an ambassador is so interwoven with his official position that to fill the one serviceably he must give time, thought and money to the other. Being entertained, he must entertain. Proper feeling compels him to do so, and as he is not paid for his services, the expenses on which he never reckoned.
He is humiliated in his own opinion, if he endeavors to avoid them.

One American ambassador to a continental state, on a salary of $17,500 a year, once said to a friend:

"I read in the American papers
that I am saving money out of my salary. You know I live at a hotel, that I have a hired carriage; that I do everything about as simply as I can. Well, I have just come over my books, and I find that during the past twelve months I have spent $37,000."

Too Much "Divination."
The Congress of Experimental Psychology devoted a field day recently to investigating the claims of the manipulators of the divining-
rod. The results obtained were interesting, but the psychologists
were obliged to admit that they could offer no satisfactory explanation of the strange gifts of the operators.

Some twenty "rhabdomancers"
accepted the invitation of the Congress and met Professor Vire, of the Natural History Museum, who was to direct the experiments, at the Bois de Vincennes. Professor Vire
had selected the ground for the experiments, and a special arrangement
had been prepared by the Prefecture
of the Seine. First of all M. Vire called upon all the operators who thought themselves able to locate underground caves, to step forward.
Four men responded, Messrs. Pelatrat,
Lebrun, Couranges and Prost.
They were led to distant points of the terrain, and told to begin.

Armed with rods of cane, whet-
stone and metal, the four men advanced, slowly and deliberately poising their instruments, which is illuminated under the action of the divination. Their statements were carefully checked by the
map. First M. Pelatrat announced
a dry cavity at a depth of 18 yards;
a glance at the map showed this
to be absolutely correct. Next M.
Prost announced the presence of a subterranean quarry, describing the outline and giving various details,
all of which were found to be more or less correct. The results obtained by the other two were no less extraordinary. They found dry caves at will. M. Pelatrat even discovered a seam of coal at a depth
which he estimated at 140 yards.
The official map did not mention
this, but at all the points of interest made by the "rhabdomancers"
have been found to be perfectly correct, the scientists saw no reason to doubt the truth of this statement.

Another Mary Walker.
Madame Jane Dieulafoy, a thorough explorer, chevalier of the Legion
of Honor, and possessor of the unique privilege accorded by the French Government of wearing male apparel, has conceived the idea of forming battalions of women to aid in the work of reorganizing the French army.

The women are not to fight, so Madame Dieulafoy's scheme offers no opening to the humorist. On the contrary, it is regarded as eminently practical. It is based on her own personal observations. For Madame Dieulafoy fought in the Franco-Prussian war, disguised in a uniform by her husband's side, and knows what she is talking about.
Briefly, she proposes that volunteer corps of women should be formed to work in the commissary department,
the clothing department and other non-combatant sections, releasing
the men now employed by these services and sending them to swell the numbers of fighters.

There are many women, widows,
etc., points out Madame Dieulafoy,
whose life is practically over at forty; many young and old maid
who have "no object in life." All these would welcome the idea of aiding in the useful work of defending their native land. The Minister of War, to whom the scheme was submitted, was most encouraging.
From among the women have already signed their willingness to co-operate. Mrs. Dieulafoy is now engaged in working out the main lines of her plan, taking the Red Cross Association as a model organization. She will ask that designated women be instructed by commissary officers, and that women be given the opportunity of actual service in this department.

Columbus, O., April 19.—Forecast:

Occupations of college graduates
in this country, as indicated by returns from 37 colleges and universities, covering the period from 1842
to 1900, have been studied by the federal bureau of education, and the data obtained has been analyzed by William B. Bailey, of the economics faculty at Yale, for the next issue of the Independent. Teaching, it appears, now attracts one-fourth of the graduates, a proportion much larger than that of any other profession
though it was engaged in by comparatively few down to 1825. Formerly most of the graduates became clergymen; at the close of the seventeenth century the ministry was chosen by about two-thirds of all the graduates. One hundred years later only about one-fifth adopted
this profession, and by 1900 the ministry was receiving less than 6 per cent. Law drew to its service more graduates than any other profession
at about 1800, but since then it has lost in relative importance, although the actual number of graduates entering this field has increased. Business claims an increasing proportion of graduates; at present
nearly one-fifth enter commercial careers.

Though the American forest protection service has been a pioneer,
it has been outstripped by the Canadian service in point of efficiency.
This is probably in part due to the fact that Canada has more forests to protect at the present time. Forest fires were much diminished in Michigan last year, and a survey of the whole continent shows a like condition to have prevailed, perhaps owing to the favorable climatic circumstances for the most part, but still, in a large part owing to the superior protection that is being afforded.

The review of the past is a sad
one even for Canada. For every foot of Canadian timber used for commercial purposes, seven feet of equally valuable timber has been destroyed by fire. The trail of the railroad marked also the trail of this disaster. Adequate regulations for protection are being enforced. A second profile cause of disaster are the slashings of old lumbering exploits, and the remains of burnt-overs. What to do with the debris, which sooner or later will in turn menace the surrounding forest, is still the big problem. The people of this continent are beginning to appreciate the enormous value of the forest and the task of their protection.

Postal savings banks in the United States now contain $28,000,000.
Compared with the $4,150,000,000
in the corporate and mutual savings banks of the country the amount in the custody of the government seems insignificant, yet it represents a good start and justifies the establishment of the system. There are about 60,000 postoffices in the country, of which 12,772 are receiving savings. These include the most important postoffices, but the system
should be extended as rapidly as possible to all of them.
Corporate and mutual savings

banks number 1,225. They showed an increase of $28,000,000 in the year ending March 31, 1913.
In four years the total savings
deposits in these banks have increased $790,000,000. The figures give some idea of the possibilities of the postal savings system. Properly handled, it should have the effect of millions
upon millions of money from secret places where it is now kept by persons who are either unfamiliar with or afraid of the corporate and mutual savings banks. Experience has proved that the higher rate of interest offered by these institutions,
under existing limitations, protects
them from any serious competition.

INTERESTING EVENT.
Lillian Russell soon is to retire
temporarily from the footlights, says
the New York Review. Miss Russell, who a year ago was married to Alexander McKenzie Moore, owner
of the Pittsburgh Leader—her fourth husband, by the way—has
of late been lecturing, assisted by Kinmacular pictures, upon "How to Live One Hundred Years and Still Be Beautiful."

The reason for Miss Russell's retirement will be read with interest wherever the beautiful actress and
her long career are known.
The fact is that a help is expected to the vast fortune of Mr. Moore.
Miss Russell has been a mother
once. Her daughter, Dorothy,
whose father was Miss Russell's
second husband, Teddy Solomon, is now prominent in vaudeville.
It is said that Miss Russell's lecture tour, which is now confined to the two-day houses, will end in a month.

Whether the new responsibility
will mean her permanent retirement
from the stage has not been announced.
Lillian Russell, in many ways, is
the most remarkable woman on the American stage. Her unparalleled blonde beauty has been considered supreme for nearly a third of a century, and now when she has reached an age at which most women's beauty is hopelessly gone she is as radiant as ever.

REMODELED STORE OF HIGHEST CLASS

The Hotelier & Hint Shop in the Hotel Norval may be classed among the finest shops in the country retailing the better lines of men's apparel.
The store just remodeled, presents
a unique appearance with its steel cladding of smoky white, side walls of old ivory and blue with old English fixtures. In the rear of the room is a balcony where the office is located
and the north side of the floor is a Turkish smoking room for the convenience and pleasure of the firm's personal friends and customers.
The lighting is a notable feature of the store. In fact, the term of "best lighted haberdashery" was ever applied to it by many transient customers. Two sky lights and the entire front of glass makes
the shop as light as can be.
Hotelier and Hint sell the exclusive
makes in men's dress necessities.
In addition to their hat and haberdashery business, they are the agents for the Kahn Tailored clothes
of Indianapolis, and English raincoats.

"My little son had a very severe cold. I was recommended to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and before a small bottle was finished he was as well as ever," writes Mrs. H.
Sinks, 28 Dowling street, Sydney, Australia. This remedy is for sale
by all dealers.

POULTRY RAISERS ARRANGE MEETING FOR TUESDAY NIGHT

The Lima Poultry Raisers Association will hold an open meeting
and lecture on poultry culture in the Council Chamber, in the old City building, W. High St., Tuesday evening, April 22, 7:30 p. m. Several specimens of important breeds will be on display and the good and bad points of each will be discussed by able talkers and specially breeders
of the respective breeds. Every man, woman and child interested in poultry should be there and help
boost this most important industry
and also thank the Lima Poultry Raisers Association, which has done
great work in the interests of this great industry, as proven by the interest and number of birds in our last show. There will be no admission charge. All members of the Association are especially urged to be present.

Scientific Gardening in England.
By the use of French gardening
methods, relying largely upon hotbeds
and glass jars in the colder months,
single acres of ground near London
are being made to yield from $2,400
to $3,000 in vegetable annually.
There is a product to market throughout the year. Melons, little known in England, are forced by a steady temperature of 80 degrees, generated by manure.

Does Friendship Do This?
"It may be true for some natures, as Leonardo said, that 'if you are alone
you belong wholly to yourself. If you have a companion, you belong only half to yourself; but it is certainly not so with me. With the friendship never divides; it multiplies. A friend always makes me more than I am. Between me and I, bigger than I am. Between me and I, fifteen, or forty."— American Magazine.

Zero Mark in Jobs.
A cry from the heart comes to "St.
Martin's-in-Grand," which collects a curious "letter bag" of human interest.

the postoffice savings bank gave her

CLEAN MILK FOR MARKET

Meeting Last Night Brought Much Good to All Who Were Present.

DR. A. L. JONES GAVE INSTRUCTIVE TALK

Federated Clubs' Work Extends Into New Fields With Great Prospect.

The milk meeting held last evening in the high school auditorium, which had been arranged by the Lima Federated clubs through their department of pure health and food sanitation was in every way a thorough success. Dr. A. L. Jones, the city health officer, made the principal address of the evening, but there were also a number of other talks, and some very able papers on the same or kindred topics. All the discussion centered around the pure milk problem, whether the specific topic was the milk itself, the cows, the staples, the milkman, or what not. Dr. E. A. North, Mrs. J. C.

Linneman, Waldo Berryman, and T. W. Koop were the other speakers.

Dr. Josephine Pierce, the chairman of the committee which has in hand the work of the department of health and food sanitation of the Federation of clubs, presided at the meeting. There was a very good attendance and everything about it tended toward the encouragement of this good work.

Dr. Jones' speech was probably the most comprehensive of the evening, but was also very simple in the principles which it advocated.

Dr. Jones advocated greater care on the part of the dealers and the dairymen. One of his most urgent provisions was that the dairymen provide a stable for his cows that was not used for any other purpose, and in which no other stock was kept. In this manner he pointed out that the best interests of the consumer would not be jeopardized for the benefit of the convenience of the dairymen. The easy method of the care of the cows, the matter of the simplified feeding also support the proposition for sake of room on the farm.

The next great point that the doctor made was the advantage of maintaining of a department of milk inspection by the city. This the speaker figured could be done with a combination of the two jobs, the one mentioned and that of water chemist. This would be next best after consistent dairy inspection, a department that the city of Lima has never so far attempted.

The speaker was very urgent in his plea for improved stable accommodations, and for cleanliness therein. He would have a committee for this work, and they would attempt to cover all of the ground on an average of once per year. The stimulating of the interest of the dairymen in the co-operation through the individual consumers should be encouraged, and in every manner promoted. He suggested the thorough cleaning of the empty milk bottles by the housewives, that a proper example might be set.

The doctor was somewhat fearful that the dealers and dairymen would gain from his remarks that he was solely attempting to make matters hard on them. This opinion he did his best to obliterate. He was working for the best interests of all and to the detriment of none. He divided the responsibility of the condition of the milk into the very evident classifications of possession. He said that the dairymen would be responsible for the delivery of good milk, and the consumer for the care and preservation of it. He urged the promoting of the passage of laws or ordinances that would regulate the licensing of milk distributors as well as dairymen.

Dr. North, who spoke after Dr. Jones, substantiated and supported the greater part of the former's remarks. He reported the experience that he had in the Cincinnati hospital, and of the requirements that were there in vogue concerning the milk that was used.

Mrs. J. C. Linneman, the ex-president of the Federation of Women's clubs, spoke on a slightly different phase of the subject, from the standpoint of the experience of a housewife. She was enthusiastic about the improvement that was being noted in the milk and the absolute elimination from the market of the impure milk that was resulting from the wide discussion of the problem, and the general education of the consumers and dairymen alike on the matter.

Waldo Berryman expressed a sentiment which made an impression on his audience when he suggested the advantage that would result from an occasional visit by the patron at the dairy farm from which he obtained his milk. Mr. Koop was the sole dairymen to address the meeting. He agreed with the others in a great many of their points, and was very enthusiastic concerning the movement.

ing the rest of the year, leavened food has been placed in the market. While the entire week is festive in its nature, the large public gatherings for Passover worship take place in the synagogues only at the beginning of the Passover week and at the end. Orthodox Jews have two days of "holy convocation" at either extreme, while Reform Jews observe only one day at either extreme.

Perhaps the most significant and beautiful aspect of the Passover celebration is the service which is held within the Jewish home on the first evening of the feast: among orthodox Jews, upon the first and second evenings.

The members of the family and their guests sit around the supper table which is spread with festive elegance. Upon the table are the "bitter herbs" and the roasted shank bone, the egg, the parsley, the bowl of salt water, the unleavened bread and other symbols. The service is read or rather chanted from a curious old book called the "Haggadah," which tells, with not a little wit, humor, pathos and sublimity about the deliverance from Egypt, giving thanks for the great act of divine mercy, in many a psalm and hymn.

For the benefit of large numbers of Jews who no longer understand Hebrew, attempts have been made to translate the "Haggadah" into English. But it is doubtful whether the best of translations can preserve the quaint charm of the original.

As a rule, the topic for pulpit disquisition on Passover—particularly in the "Reform" synagogues where preaching is a regular feature of the services—is some thought related to the theme of "liberty." On Passover, above all other festivals, the Jew unites the traditions of his religion in striking accord with the ideals of American life. The feast of Passover begins Monday evening, April 21, 1913, and lasts one week.

AUGLAIZE TWP. ITEMS.

Miss Leah the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cook, of R. D. 2, Harrod, Auglaize township, has been quite seriously ill for sometime. Mrs. W. H. Stubbs, her aunt, is helping to wait on the young lady patient, and his many friends who sympathize with her trust that she may soon recover.

W. H. Leatherman, of R. D. 2, Harrod, who had quite a bad attack of sickness last Saturday, is some better.

Mr. Leatherman is a very prominent farmer of Auglaize township and his many friends who sympathize with his very uncomfortable experience will be glad to know that he is thus improving. Also Mr. Leatherman, who is very ambitious, will survive his experience all right if he will but keep up cheer. This he is somewhat obliged to do as he has quite a few friends who call to see him and with the rest of us feel sure he will soon be up and out with us. Among those who called on Mr. Leatherman Friday was Pastor G. B. Garner, formerly of Lima, now of Harrod, O.

Passover.

Passover has, from remote antiquity, been taken to commemorate the deliverance of the Israelites from Egypt after 430 years of bitter servitude. The account of the sufferings of the Israelites and of their liberation occupies the first fifteen chapters of the book of Exodus.

Complaint with the Biblical command (Exodus xii, 19), the observant Jew, during the Passover week, abstains strictly from the use of all leavened substances. Instead of the ordinary yeast bread, a species of large cracker called Matzo or unleavened bread is eaten.

Before Passover arrives, the observant Jew scrupulously removes from his premises every crumb of leaven that he is able to find. Soon he would be undergoing great privations than touch a morsel of leaven at this season. During the Passover week, the Jew of rigid Orthodoxy will not even use the same dishes and utensils in which, dur-

One day it was raining very heavily in Berlin, and a wealthy merchant, on leaving the exchange, hailed a cab and asked to be driven to a distant part of the city. On the way the merchant discovered that he had forgot to put his purse in his pocket and that was to be done. On reaching his destination he got out of the cab and said to the driver: "Will you please give me a match? I have popped a gold-piece on the floor of my cab." Instantly the cabman whirled up his horse and soon disappeared round the next corner.

PEARL HANNA MISSING FROM SOUTH LIMA HOME

Distracted Father Pleads
With Police to Find
Lost Girl.

LAST SEEN FRIDAY
AT THE NOON HOUR.

Any Information as to Her Whereabouts Will be Appreciated.

Mystery surrounds the disappearance of Pearl Hanna, 19, daughter of D. S. Hanna, 715 Madison avenue, who yesterday noon left the Woolworth five and ten cent store and since has been missing. An added angle is given the case because of the fact that the girl neither drew her weekly salary nor took with her any cloths from her home. Her father who called at the police station this afternoon is unable to give any reason for the disappearance. He says he knows of no trouble the girl has had and to his knowledge had no love affair. Girl employees of the Woolworth store beside whom the girl worked, declare she appeared in good spirits yesterday morning and gave no indication that she had any intention of leaving.

Relatives of the girl have made every possible effort to locate her. Inquiries at the railroad stations have brought nothing and telephone calls to Kenton and Marion where the family lived before the arrival here four weeks ago have brought no clue upon which a theory might be based.

The father admits the girl for some time received the attention of a young Marion county farmer while the family was living near Marion but can not believe her disappearance is in any way connected with an elopement.

When she left the store yesterday noon, who is said to be a blonde about five feet and six inches tall, was wearing a black and white check coat suit and a red and black straw hat. Police so far have advanced no theory for the disappearance.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

Not daunted by the fact that the Ottawa river commission denies its right to make a selection of the ninth member of the committee investigating the proposed improvements, the citizens committee met last night and named Edwin W. Hiner as their choice for representative. While there is no final action in the move of the committee, Hiner's name will be presented to the other members of the commission who will have the authority to either accept or reject the proposal made by the citizens' committee.

No arrangements as yet have been made for the first meeting of the commission as a whole although members have done considerable individual work. The county commissioners have looked over the ground several times with the view of understanding just what the nature of the improvements must be.

Women Dress as Lunatics
for Fancy Ball, Says Author

"I walked down Fifth avenue in New York the other day," Basil King, the writer of fiction, told a Boston reporter, "and it seemed that I must have been at a fancy dress ball in a lunatic asylum. The women wore the craziest and most glaring colors. I felt as if I had been looking at a Cubist picture. I have no doubt this affects the people sentenced to watch it day after day."

"We used to understand that as civilization progressed the tendency was for women to cover up their bodies more. Now the tendency seems to be reversed. The gaudy and weird clothing worn by women kills everything except their figures, and with their hats obscures whatever spiritual qualities they may have in their faces."

PROGRAM A SUCCESS.

The C. E. society of the High St. U. B. church, rendered a literary program last evening, at the home of Jacob Frysinger, on W. Wayne street, which was attended by more than eighty Christian Endeavor workers, and their friends. The program consisted in the reciting of various elocutions; hits, piano solos, singing, and speaking, much applause being given. The preacher was then called upon to make the announcement that the best was yet to come from the fact that the ladies had prepared a feast, which would cost the adults the mere sum of fifteen cents, and the children ten cents; but no person should leave without supper. Ten dollars was the amount of cash realized for the society.

BANDIT DIEUDONNE SENTENCED TO DIE, HAS BEEN PARDONED

Paris, April 19.—Dieudonne, one of the four automobile bandits sentenced to death by the Paris court of assizes, on February 27, was pardoned by President Poincaré today. The other three, Callem, Soudy and Mober, are to be guillotined on Tuesday. During the trial Callem on hearing the sentence of death shouted "my comrade Dieudonne was not the assailant of the bank messenger Caby. It was I and my chief."

The admission caused a tremendous sensation and it is assumed that the doubt of Dieudonne's guilt brought his pardon from the president.

1920 LEAGUE BOOSTS LIMA

Mass Meeting is Called for Tuesday Night at High School Auditorium.

VIEWS OF OTHER CITIES IMPROVED

Will Awaken Within Lima People Activity Born of Civic Pride.

Wars and means of developing the resources of the city and county and an organized effort for a bigger and greater Lima will be the principal topics under discussion at a meeting of the Lima 1920 league which will be held in the auditorium of the high school building at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening. One of the important subjects on the program for discussion will be the improvement of the Ottawa river.

A series of slides have been obtained from the American Civic Association of Washington illustrating what has been accomplished along the lines of civic betterment in American and European cities. Some interesting local slides will be shown, which are intended to throw the limelight on several badly needed local improvements.

In a number of personal letters sent out this morning to describe the object of the meeting an appeal is made for as large an attendance as possible. "Lima," according to one of the backers of the meeting, "is at the parting of the ways and whether the way ahead are of progression or retrogression must be decided by the spirit with which civic affairs are looked upon now."

In addition to the exhibition of slides several addresses will be made by men of local prominence of the nature of the improvements of the Ottawa river. Several out of town experts probably will be present to consult with the members of the new league on the subject of "The City Beautiful."

PERSONALS.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Meyers and daughter, Virginia, and Mrs. Meyers' mother, Mrs. Shomer, of 606 west Market street, will leave Sunday morning for Minneapolis, Minn., called there by the illness of the daughter of Mrs. Shomer, and the sister of Mrs. Meyers.

Found Wanting

Many Applicants for Civil Service Positions Are Refused Because of Poor Physical Condition.

Each year the national as well as city governments are becoming more and more particular as to the physical condition of the employees in the various departments; especially is this true in the learned trades, where brain work is supplemented by muscular exertion, realizing that the man or woman suffering from physical defects or infirmities cannot give value received in exchange for their yearly salary. Many applicants for the various positions that are filled each year from the civil service commissioner's list of eligibles, are refused. They fail to pass the physical examination, they are labeled unfit for the service. This is a deplorable state of affairs, when one stops to consider it from

Gamble conducted the devotional exercises and Mrs. R. W. Peck ably conducted the lesson on "China." Mrs. Jenkins read a delightful story, "The Birth of the Violet," so timely because of the near approach of these modest, little flowers, just now peeping through the ground, from their leaf-covered beds. Mrs. J. W. Gensel also read an interesting paper.

The society is arranging for a concert, to be given in the near future, when only men will take part in the program. Not only the men of the First Congregational church will be the contributing artists, but those of the city churches will be invited to lend their aid. Old-time melodies will be used. The members lingered for a fragrant cup of tea.

APRIL TIME.

Sweet April-time! Sweet April-time! Birds, bees and buds, belong to thee. And for the far-off harvest-time, Thy smile makes pledge of what shall be.

In Spring-time seeds spring up and grow— And, would we reap, then we must sow. Dig deep—the soil prepare with care— Sun, dew and rain will do their share. The precious seed we hide away, Shall make our leaves another day.

The bright warm sunshine of the past week, the green grass growing beneath our feet and the desire of nature to put on her loveliest dress, all tell of the appearance of the real springtime. It won't be long until the scent of the apple-blossoms will come to greet us, the wild-flowers will grow beside the road and in otherwise unheeded places and the natural turn of man is to seek the country and its nature in all the radiance of her glory.

A stroll in the country, at this time of the year, is indeed interesting, bringing as it does to society, the opening of Shawnee country club and the giving up of clubs, cafes and halls in which to meet and pass the social hour, enjoying undisturbed the delight of God's great outdoors and the invigoration which comes from contact with nature and her surroundings. And the springtime when they come in such colors as has been shown in words and fields the past week.

H. E. Cherrington, music critic on the Columbus Dispatch, has the following in his column:

"The Women's Music Club of Columbus has given out its prospectus for the concert season of 1913-14, and it announces six entertainments, with Mary Gordon, the great soprano, and Louis Homer, the noted contralto, appearing in two of the concerts; and the celebrated Russian pianist, Josef Hoffman, in a third entertainment, with the appearances also of the Boston, Cincinnati and Minneapolis symphony orchestras at different times. This comprises an array of talent that will attract the music lovers of the community. The Women's Music Club is certainly entitled to much credit and support for marshaling so fine a combination of talent. In due time the dates for the appearances of these celebrated artists will be furnished."

It can readily be seen that Lima people, under the auspices of The Women's Music Club of Lima, enjoyed equally as fine a program as that arranged for Columbus music lovers the past season.

Mrs. S. K. Heckerman of west Market street, delightfully entertained the Twentieth Century club, Monday evening. The program was a continuation of the study of American Sculpture. Responding to the roll call, members told of a statue, the sculptor and what had prompted the construction of the work of art. This was one of the most interesting features of the evening's enjoyment.

Mrs. M. L. Becker and Mrs. R. W. Melly gave the papers of the evening, from the subjects, "Contemporary Sculpture 1870-1903" and "Twentieth Century Men" respectively. The subject has proved of great enjoyment to every member of the club.

The John North Willys collection of old masters, which are hung in the Museum of Art in Toledo, while Mrs. and Mr. Willys are on a trip abroad, are being shown and from one to five on Sunday afternoon, the Museum of Art is free to the public. These rare paintings are a delight to the heart and eye of every lover of the beautiful. The Museum is thronged on a Sunday.

Among the other exhibitions are the paintings by F. Hopkinson Smith, those by Thomas S. Parkhurst and L. E. Van Gorder, the carbon prints by Wilbur H. Porterfield, together with the permanent collection of paintings, sculpture, ceramics, Oriental and Egyptian antiquities.

Miss Florence Bower welcomed members of the Chautauquan club to her home on south Charles street, Monday evening, for the regular meeting. The club finished a reading of "The Piper" and the remainder of the evening was taken up with a discussion of timely topics. There was a large attendance of the members, brought about by the beautiful evening. Light refreshments were completed at the delightful hour. Mrs. William Wilson, of 718 Greenlawn avenue, will be hostess for the club, Monday evening.

Mrs. Charles P. Oliver, of Brice avenue, had the ideal club with her, Wednesday afternoon. A most enjoyable time was spent and nearly all the members were privileged to be present. The ladies had the pleasure of inspecting a display of jewelry work made by Mrs. Loefer, who is 80 years old and which was remarkable, when it is considered the stitches these old fingers must have made to complete the display. Mrs. Oliver's mother, Mrs. Styer, was a guest. A delicious luncheon completed the late afternoon of sociability. Mrs. Herbert U. Bussert, of Charles street, will entertain the club, in a fortnight.

The marriage of Miss June Justus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Justus of south Pine street, and Rev. Samuel R. Dunham, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Spencerville, will take place, late Thursday afternoon, and will be quietly celebrated. The future home of the couple will be in Spencerville, where Rev. Mr. Dunham is liked and greatly appreciated by the members of his congregation and the citizens in general. Miss Justus has been connected with the high school and is much loved by everyone. She is a talented and young woman of lovely Christian character and numbers her friends by the score. Hence, it is that her coming marriage to this minister of the gospel, a place she is so well fitted to serve, is giving her friends much pleasure. Up to conference time last fall, Rev. Mr. Dunham was pastor of the Second Street Methodist church of this city.

Mrs. J. H. Agar, of south West street, was pleasantly surprised by a number of friends Wednesday evening. The time was spent in games and music. A delicious supper was served in the evening before leaving, the guests took occasion to wish Mr. and Mrs. Agar much happiness and real success in their future home in Chicago, Ohio, where Mr. Agar is employed and where they will remove very shortly. The guests present to enjoy the evening were Mesdames W. C. Muller, J. O'Grady, T. Muller, H. Riley, T. Phelan, G. O'Brien, W. J. O'Connor, M. O'Brien, Misses Agnes Montague, Mary O'Connor, Mary Riley and Alice Phelan.

Roby a couple of weeks ago and which was largely attended. Hon. R. R. Kennedy, representative from Allen county in the Ohio General Assembly, will deliver the next, the third lecture. The public is invited to attend the lecture. The lecture will close at 8 o'clock to permit arrangements for any other engagement that evening.

Mrs. L. E. Meeks, of Rich Avenue, entertained the Political Equality club, Tuesday evening. All present joined in singing campaign songs, with piano accompaniment. Mrs. Melville read an article, "The National Congress Stirred by Women.

Mrs. Lauryette had for the subject of her selection, "Women in Politics." Mrs. Douglas read an article, "Proof That the Retail Liquor League Paid Anti-Suffrage Advertisements in Michigan." Mr. Coburn, a resident of Michigan, was present and told of the situation in that state.

Mrs. W. E. Crayton's talk was based upon information she had received from Mrs. Harriet Opton, of Warren, who is state president, denouncing the actions of the English militant suffragists.

Little Dorothy Roberts gave a witty reading, responding to an encore Miss Bonnie Linn, accompanist, gave a delightful piano number, as the closing feature. The members will meet at the Business Women's club, Tuesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock prompt, for a short session.

Another engagement in marriage of much interest, not alone to Lima, but also in Toledo and Sandusky, is that of Miss Yvonne Ebersole, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Ebersole, of 130 north Pierce street, and Harry Thomas Brecher, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Brecher, of Toledo, announced Saturday afternoon, for the final meeting of the year. The wedding will be an event of the autumn season. The future home of the couple will be in the east, probably in Boston.

Mr. Brecher is a member of the firm controlling and operating the Catawba Canning Company, of Sandusky, but takes care of the eastern territory, spending practically all of his time in the east.

Mrs. Chauncey F. Lufkin presided at one of the prettiest of luncheons given Monday noon at the beautiful new Lima club, as a compliment to brides-elect of the spring-time and early summer, and their mothers. An enormous bouquet of pink and white carnations was used as the decoration in the center of the table, and at each place was found small baskets of lilies-of-the-valley and pink rosebuds, given as favors. Considerable interest is manifested in the concert, to be given by the Orton Maennerchor, a local singing society, at Memorial hall, during the month of June. Leading solo artists will be imported to have a part in the program. The executive committee has the arrangements in charge. Henry Fruch is director and the society includes among its members, some of Lima's best talent.

At a recent wedding the bride introduced a conspicuous innovation by carrying a bouquet of deep crimson roses with her white satin and lace gown. Her wreath, too, was not the orthodox orange blossom, but consisted of white heather and myrtle leaves under the flowing tulle veil. Clifton, nylon embroidered of pearl and crystal beads, with train of brocade in any pale color have already been exploited in the bridal toilet and now that the pure white bouquet has begun to be replaced by colored flowers there can be no doubt that change is going ahead in this direction. Last week at a big wedding in the metropolis, a bride carried no bouquet, but held a fan instead. The weather was not conspicuously tropical, as we may all remember, but the delicate little face fan struck a decorative note and was less troublesome to carry than the usual bouquet.

Mrs. L. P. Tolby of west Wayne street, was hostess for the Clonians, Monday afternoon, when the study of Mexico was further discussed. Current events concerning the country was given in response to roll call and Mrs. B. A. Gramm told of "Mexico as a Cattle Country." "American Interests in Mexico" was the subject treated by Mrs. F. The club will meet in a fortnight, for the business session with Mrs. Ray Kolan of west Spring street.

Members of the Bayview club gathered at the home of Mrs. J. W. McCarty, of south West street, Monday afternoon, for the final meeting of the year. The afternoon was devoted to a business session. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Julia Simpson, president; Mrs. Geo. Snyder, vice president; Mrs. Edward Abrams, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. John Cockrell, critic.

The work of the coming year was discussed and it was decided practically two and a half hours of science and modern drama. However, as some material for this work is lacking, it was decided to name no program committee, but this will take care of a called meeting, to be held some time yet this spring.

The Bayview club, which is composed of such splendid, whole-souled women, have also decided to do sewing for needy little ones and this will be included as a part of their work for the coming year. A number of the members are affiliated with the Good Fellowship club and know where much good can be accomplished and these charming women have decided to lend their efforts.

The delightful afternoon was made more enjoyable by the serving of a luncheon, consisting of potato rusks, orange slices, pickles, coffee and tea.

The magazine lesson was reviewed and freely discussed by members of the Round Table, in their meeting held Monday afternoon with Mrs. Shelby Munanga. There was a large attendance of the members present and the current events, given in response to roll call, formed an interesting little story chain. Mrs. Kinkade ably led the history lesson, which was a study of the Victoria land in Australia.

The study was followed by the serving of a delicious luncheon, consisting of wafers, cake and cocoa. Mrs. George Quail of 546 west Wayne street, will be hostess for the club, Monday afternoon.

The Ladies' Embroidery club will meet Wednesday evening with Miss Ruth Wolf of Kibby street and Broadway, for the regular evening of needlework the club enjoys.

To the men and girls who love each other more than ease and show and sham. This is the dedication of George Ler Burton's delightful new book, "Tackling Marriage," which has been issued by the Harper & Brothers Company, after being published first in serial form in The Saturday Evening Post. It is not a great book but it is intimately human. Its art is not studied nor wonderful, but simple and natural as the art of a baby's actions.

Sam (it is he who writes the book) is an extremely ordinary and common young man, with a $70-a-month income, who loves a girl whose ambitions are for a $200-a-month man, but who loves well enough to accept poverty and matrimony. The young couple tackle matrimony together. They play the game and get all the joy and sweetness out of their humble position possible.

"Married young," says the voice of the book, "Don't be afraid of little money. Live within your income, and far enough inside to make a little saving. True love will suffice for your happiness." Yes, that sounds all so much like plentiful preaching and that common talk about love in a cottage. But that's the theme of this book. It is common. It is the stuff that most writers overlook, and for that reason it is thoughtful. Better to deny that it is poetry in the "sordid" strivings of a young married couple than to start it. It is this poet, George Ler Burton has written into it. The details of how the young couple made their own bookcase and "did" in the $12-a-month cottage, only adds to the poetry.

A dyspeptic won't like the book. It will prove driving, surprising, horrible, full of all the has-beens for many years. The man or woman who wants to be married, recently who wants to be married, or who isn't too old to remember his early married days will find much in the book that is common to his own experience. The humor is subtle and plentiful. It is an uncommon tale of common experiences, with an exquisite art that isn't obtrusive.

Mrs. Thomas D. McLaughlin, of the Thayer Terrace, south McDonough street, will open her home Monday afternoon for the entertainment of the Woman's club.

Mrs. W. F. Dobbins, of south Metcalf street dispensed gracious hospitality to the Oneta club, Tuesday afternoon, when in rooms made fragrant by spring blossoms, the members spent a couple of delightful hours over their needlework. The roll call was responded to by current events. A red basket, filled with delicious fruit, occupied the center of the table for the luncheon that followed, the favors being small nut baskets of red and gold, tied with white ribbons. In the dining room, too, spring flowers grew a plentiful. None but club members were seated.

The many friends of Mrs. Fox, of Sagerstown, Pa., are having the pleasure of meeting her and welcoming her to their midst, while she is making a week's visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bates, of Lakewood avenue.

Mrs. I. R. Longworth is in Cleveland for a week's visit with her son, Walter Longworth, who is in school in the Forest City, Mrs. Longworth left this morning, accompanied by Miss Helen Longworth.

"Twelfth Night" was the subject under discussion Tuesday afternoon at the city library, by members of the Shakespeare club, in their regular fortnightly meeting assembled. The club has now finished the study of "Twelfth Night." Twelve members responded to roll call. The meeting, in two weeks, will be of extreme interest, because, at that time, election of new officers will be held.

The Arbutus club met with Mrs. Gibson P. Dilline, of west High street, Monday afternoon. As is the usual custom the time was devoted to a discussion of current events. Miss Isabelle Mackenzie resigned as assistant secretary of the club and Mrs. F. T. Cuthbert was elected to fill the vacancy. The hostess served tea and cakes during the social half hour. The closing meeting of the season will be held in a fortnight, with Mrs. A. L. White, of south Cole street.

FUTURISM AFFECTS SPRING FASHIONS
Gorgeous Colors Once Irreconcilable Now in Close juxtaposition.

New York, April 19.—Whether or not the new movement in art will have any direct bearing on color combinations, it is too early to predict. But certain it is that the blendings of colors in the paintings of both Futurist and Post-impressionists are food for the artistic mind. A combination a year or so ago of bright yellow, red and purple would have occasioned a revolution of feeling and an avalanche of criticism. This is not surprising when it is remembered that no matter how simple they may be they present a finished costume effect. The openings at the fashionable shops have covered the whole range of advanced summer modes. That the season's garments are to be characterized by style and beauty is proved by the features introduced, the fabrics chosen, and the grace of line and curve.

General lines will undergo no radical change. Waists in blouse effect, back and front having peplums, long or elbow-length sleeves, either close-fitting or on loose lines and coming from dropped or regulation shoulder seams, skirts narrow at the hem and broadening toward the hip, with folds of drapery in the skirt proper or cleverly inserted in an overdress, are the features which dominate spring fashions. The cash, as we know, was introduced first in the mid-winter season. To be sure, these charming accessories, in one style or another, never go quite out, but the cash of today is quite among its kind. It is made of bright-colored ribbon or soft messaline either in stripes, moire or Bulgarian coloring. Sashes, too, is the new shades of Neil rose, flame, brilliant green, purple and French blue are worn with afternoon and evening gowns. Many of them are bright high, the corsage, others are suspended low over the hips. The cash is also a strong fashion note in the tailored suit, and is distinctly novel when used in front. Sometimes it has long ends appearing in quite distracting fashion in the center-front from under a vested and cutaway coat.

The long Russian blouse of the winter will be replaced by one of much shorter length, fashioned on loosely-fitted lines. This coat is particularly well-suited to slender figures, and when worn with a broad sash of any fancied shade of ribbon, as is girlish and pleasing as it is possible to conceive. For wear with these indifferently fitted jackets, skirts elaborately draped are much in favor. Walking is made possible by the skilful introduction of slashes and insets. Notwithstanding the fact that the finger of disapproval has been repeatedly pointed in their direction, slashed effects lead the fashion for afternoon and evening wear. The influence of this style on shoes and stockings is at once evident. Owing to the exposure of the feet and the prominence given to the shoes, only the daintiest dressing may be tolerated.

The materials used for frocks will continue to be soft. Crepes, both of fancy and plain weave, are very popular. The attractive gown of the second illustration was developed in gray crepe de chine with front, collar and belt of similar material in white. Bodice and sleeves are fashioned in one. The three-piece skirt has tunic of gray bordered crepe, smartly draped and caught toward the center-back. The pointed train is a feature of the latest spring models. To accommodate the ample folds and soft material of prevailing afternoon and evening dress models, a wrap on loose lines is essential. A new style, known as the mantle wrap, is very attractive. To all outward appearance it has neither cut nor line, but great folds of material caught high in the center-back by a buckle and falling over the shoulders in layers merely suggestive of sleeves. Apparently, a piece of material three yards in length, confined in the center by an ornament and laid in drapery over the arms, answers the purpose. For this handsome, carelessly-flung-together garment only dainty and costly materials are used. Flowered tulle, charmeuse matelasse and faille silk are most in favor. Sweater for athletic coats have undergone considerable change. Ratine is as much in demand as the former tricot weave. These knitted coats have conspicuously bright colors introduced in belt, collar and cuffs. Light shades for steamer wear will be much in evidence. White, in wide, of ample lines with large kimono sleeves, a wide belt applied well above the waistline is a notable feature.

Mrs. E. C. Mackenzie, of west Market street, entertained the Lotus club, Monday afternoon. The principal part of the afternoon's program was devoted to a talk by Mrs. J. C. Linneman on "Mexico," consisting of personal observations obtained upon her recent trip to that interesting country. The talk was one greatly appreciated and filled with interest. Miss Florence Campbell read a sketch upon the subject of "Woman's Suffrage." Victoria numbers were given by Mrs. Mackenzie.

Members lagged for a half-hour of social chat, while light refreshments were served. Mrs. Linneman will entertain the club, in a fortnight.

Friend of Mrs. Edward Orton, Jr., of Columbus, and of Mrs. William C. Boyle, of Cleveland, both of whom attended the state conference of Daughters of the American Revolution here last fall, will be glad to know Mrs. Orton was elected assistant historian general and Mrs. Boyle was made recording secretary general, at the national conference, held in Washington, D. C., this week. Mrs. Orton took an interesting part in the discussions of the conference. Mrs. Boyle was the candidate for state regent against Mrs. J. K. Hamilton, of Toledo, losing out in this race.

Mrs. Hallie R. Hoover, of north West street, is entertaining Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Allen, of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Mrs. Thomas E. Townsend, of the Phoenix apartments, will entertain the J. M. F. C. club Wednesday afternoon, at her home. The club is devoted to needlework.

Miss Mary Longworth presided at a handsome dinner of four courses Thursday evening, as a charming courtesy to Miss June Justus, a bride-to-be of the coming week. The bride, who was laid for twelve and held a basket of lovely lavender sweet peas and ferns, tied with great bows of pink tulle. The nut baskets were also tied with miniature bows of tulle and served as favors. Pink carnations and their attendant greenery were scattered along the cloth. At the place Miss June Justus, in the lavender, was found. Thirty-two young ladies, friends of the hostess and of the guest of honor, attended the dinner. Seated at the right table were Miss Justus, Misses Evelyn Davison, Capitola Clark, Caroline Reisdorf, Blanche Andrews, Ethel Cable, Anna Beattie, Bertha Borges, Jean Stoner and the hostess. The remaining twenty guests were seated at five small tables, the decorations of which were baskets of lavender sweet peas and small baskets which held nuts and mints, as favors. Misses Helen Longworth, Loretta Seward, Ruth Power and Beatrice Thompson, in pretty gowns, served the dinner. The Longworth home at 200 west North street, was the scene of this happy gathering.

The regular meeting of the Cotterie club will be held Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Hallie R. Hoover, of 123 north West street.

The next recital of the Women's Music club will be given Thursday afternoon at Delphos, where the entire membership of the club are invited as guests of one of the affiliate members, Mrs. Arthur E. Feltz, who has secured the Knights of Euthias hall for the occasion.

There must, of necessity, be special care to accommodate the club, so it is quite necessary that each one who intends to attend should notify the secretary, Mrs. Luah M. Butler, of 654 west Spring street, by postal card on Tuesday, April 22. The time of cars leaving for Delphos and returning will be announced in the newspapers of Wednesday evening and Thursday morning. The following program has been arranged for this occasion.

If the weather is beautiful, and every indication points to the fact that it will be, the Delphos alone through the vernal country will be inspiration for the numbers which compose the program.

Miss Mary Lowery, of the Elektra, gave a delightful five o'clock tea, Friday, entertaining a number of her friends. A pot of pink carnations formed the center decoration of the table, which was laid in a dining room and the guests found their places by means of dainty little place cards. Tea was served in three courses. Seated at the board were Mrs. Esther Wenner and her guest, Miss Florence Miller, of Little Rock, Arkansas. Misses Marguerite Henderson, Frances Beattie, Edith Lichenstader, Margaret Rogers, Ruth Kerr Hyer, Misses Emma Antell, Marie Sweeney, Helen Miller and Carlotta Agerter.

The Faurot's Pictures.

But few legitimate theatrical attractions disturb the popular reign of the motion pictures at the Faurot. Tonight, tomorrow and every day next week except Tuesday a line program of new Universal films will be exhibited and will doubtless draw their customary crowds.

Tonight the leading features of the four-reel program will be a stir—frontier drama, "As Fate Wills," and a delightfully comic Victor film, "Two Lives."

For Sunday the Faurot will offer a special feature in the new "101 Bison" photo-play, "Bedford's Hope." This is based on the tremendously successful play by that master of melodrama, Lincoln J. Carter, and has been produced by the Bison people under Mr. Carter's personal direction. The story is told in three thrilling reels and the film is said to be the finest yet turned out with the Bison brand on it.

Big Belasco Play Next Week.
"The Woman" was by long odds the greatest success of last season in New York where it played for nine months at the Republic theatre. It was written by William C. de Mille and is presented by that master of stage craft, David Belasco, the man who attempts one thing at a time and always does just one thing well. It is one more artistic triumph for Belasco and an equally great popular hit. The play is said to be beautifully acted by the original Belasco company, under the guidance of John W. Cope and young Mary Nash contributing to a uniformly strong performance.

"The Woman" full of bright lines. In "The Woman," there are many clever speeches which will find a quick and appreciative response from every audience. The male element in the story is made up of a number of politicians in Washington who constitute "the machine." The leader of "the machine" is Jim Blake, a strong and sturdy commander who has his own ideas on the subject of graft and the American public in general. These are some of them:

"Don't talk to me about the Peepul. They've made me rich, but by God! they give me a pain."

"Ethiography" is the language over the eyes of justice."

"Grafting is a national institution in this country, and the job of a grafter ought to be held by an honest man."

"When one of the grafters came back from Europe the other day, didn't everybody rise up and say, 'Welcome to what you have left of our city?'"

"The trouble with Kansas is, that people keep butting into government affairs."

"We had a platform that read like a cross between the Bible books and the Ten Commandments."

"What! Me leave the party! Why, son, the party's been father and mother to me. When I leave the party, I'll take it with me."

The "machine" politicians in "The Woman" would get away with their schemes if it were not for the smart telephone operator, Wanda Kelly. She also has ideas of her own. These are expressed in her remarkable speech, the one which has created the most sensational comment in this unusual Belasco-de Mille drama. Says Wanda Kelly:

"One of the big central stations is the world—the world all boiled down and spread out on the switchboard. And right there on that board are thousands and thousands of people who are meeting, their thoughts crossing each other—and the 'belle' girl is perched on the top of a high mountain looking at them. That's the real world, what people are thinking, and it's all on the board—good and bad, all mixed up together—all going at once. And the operator is a sort of fate who sees that the right people get together, and like fate, she lets them work out their own affairs, though she could often save a lot of trouble if she mixed in. I tell you it's hard not to interfere sometimes when you have the entire world under your two hands."

Scene in David Belasco's Production of "The Woman," at the Faurot Tuesday Night.

JANE PEYTON, WHO PLAYS "THE WOMAN."

Jane Peyton, in private life Mrs. Guy Bates Post, who creates the part of Grace Robertson in David Belasco's production of "The Woman," to be seen here next Tuesday night at the Faurot, is one of that manager's new acquisitions. Theatregoers will remember Miss Peyton for her sparkling work in support of Lawrence O'Rourke in "The Earl of Pawtucket."

Miss Peyton is essentially an American actress, not only in type and in temperament, but in technique as well. Qualifications held in high esteem by Mr. Belasco, physically she is tall and her figure might well serve as a model for Edward G. Robinson or Charles Dana Gibson. She has a broad, charming face, lighted by warm brown eyes—a face which might be classic were it not for a certain piquancy. And then she has freckles—the most bewitching freckles—the sort of freckles one rarely sees on the nose and cheeks of little seven or eight year old girls who refuse to wear their sun-bonnets—the sort of freckles that make pretty women irresistible, and ten times more to be dreaded as a rival than the most beautiful woman in the world.

AL G. FIELD'S MEMOIRS.

Twenty-seven years of travel at the head of what is conceded to be the representative company of minstrels in America has enriched the memory of Al G. Field with a baggage of interesting information. Besides appearing with his company, organizing the show, and superintending both the business and acting departments, Field has blossomed forth as an author. His book, "Twenty Years of G. B.," has been widely in response to numerous requests, and contrary to popular belief it is not a history of minstrelsy, but a reminiscence of events in the life of the noted minstrel manager.

Mr. Field was, in his young days, a circus performer, and rose from the ranks to the position of manager with a tested aggregation that traveled by wagon. The story is told in the third person, and the reviewer declares it is a most readable tale, complete with hamlets and bits of philosophy for which Field ranks high.

Naturally the Al G. Field Great Minstrel is mentioned, but only in passing, and the book, while treating the topics of show life as they occur, also included a thread of story carefully worked into a most pleasing volume. Field concluded his book and organized the new aggregation of features and surprises during the past summer. As in the book, every detail with the minstrel was carefully planned, and the critics agree that this year's edition of the Greater Minstrels superseded all former efforts of the minstrel dean.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

"Smile awhile, and while you smile, another smile. And soon there's miles and miles of smiles. And life's worth while, because you smile."

The above is Mr. Chas. A. Sellen's favorite bit of verse and he makes evident his belief in the wholesome philosophy contained therein, by the class of musical identification of late years.

In "The Cow and the Moon," comedy with which he has been which comes to the Orpheum all next week there is scarcely a white board are thousands and thousands, when the audience does not smile. In this new, frisky, tuneful fantasy it is claimed that this quiet, yet forceful comedian, is gaining a still firmer grasp upon his many admirers and those who believe in the "Sellen" idea of clean cut, snappy, everlasting something doing kind of musical comedy.

There is action every minute and then some, and the tricks are so numerous and strutting and the scenery so panoramic in transformation that one sometimes wonders if the clever principals and beautifully gowned chorus are really necessary to the success of this furious whirl of fantastic novelties. While there is nothing Mendelssohnian about the score, the music is all tuneful jingles and sets the audience humming from the rise of the first curtain. "The Cow and the Moon" is another Cat and Fiddle; only different and sparkling with many a novelty. Sellen is in evidence most of the time as the never tiring Happy and his band, but wondrous wit, and stinging, well timed satire compel many a laugh.

The piece is the most sumptuously staged of any extravaganza to date, the electrical effects are marvelously beautiful and the color schemes suggest an artist's careful manipulation. To fittingly describe the excellence of the song numbers, a column would be all to little; but the promise is made that the comic songs will be such that the ballads, memory haunting, the choruses glow with chattering, swaying bars that will cause your blood, a tingling, and lifting with rhythms which will enfold you in their melodies and dashing choruses, which will insure you and what your appetite for more. Orpheum all next week.

LYRIC THEATRE.

Starting Monday night April 21st the Lyric Theatre will offer "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," one of the most intensely interesting plays ever written. Mr. Barrett of the Barrett Players has had many requests from the patrons to produce this wonderful play, and from the fact that Mr. Barrett was starred for two seasons in the title role of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" the patrons have a natural curiosity to see this talented actor play this great dual role. Robert Louis Stephenson's book has been universally read. The many strange theories advanced by this dual role of gentleman, scholar, and murderer, calling forth all the human phases of a scientific mind, will be recalled, and it is a fact that the late Richard Mansfield, in all his wonderful portrayals of great characters, never played a week that he did not include "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" in his repertoire, but always played the role on Saturdays only, as the strain incidental in playing this role was so great, that he required a day of rest on Sunday. Mr. Barrett has won the praise of both press and public in his scholarly conception of this part, and Lima theatregoers are offered a treat. The Bar-

LIMA POLICE WATCHING FOR DESPERATE YEGGS

Who Held Up Well Known
Waynesfield Young Man

HE TELLS A STORY
AND ASKS FOR HELP

Single Handed, He Says He Drove Crooks Off at Point of Gun.

Was it a band of bold desperate yeggs dressed in women's clothing, or a band of hilarious pincers returning from an outing at Lakeview, who held up Charles Hartwell, 28, of Waynesfield, at a secluded spot on the Waynesfield-West Minister pike last night is a question worrying the county authorities today.

Hartwell, still shaking from the effects of his experience persists in declaring it was a party of auto bandits headed by none other than the famed Chu Chu Le Tondue, and is congratulating himself today that only his nerve and his agility prevented him from today being a well laid out corpse.

According to the story told the Bellefontaine police who are investigating the matter Hartwell last night suddenly came onto the party at a bend in the road. He was commanded to halt. Hartwell says that as soon as the machine stopped and the driver leaped from his seat and made a dash for him, he drew a gun and held him at bay.

Events thereafter followed swift and fast. Creeping out of the back of the automobile another man stole up behind him. His attention distracted, Hartwell allowed the muzzle of the gun to waver from the breast of the driver whom he had covered. As soon as he saw he was safe, he said, the other man who first had attacked him, jumped into the machine, threw on the power and attempted to run over him.

Hartwell jumped to one side but in doing so, knocked the other alleged yeggsman in front of the moving machine. The machine was stopping behind him. His attention distracted, Hartwell allowed the muzzle of the gun to waver from the breast of the driver whom he had covered. As soon as he saw he was safe, he said, the other man who first had attacked him, jumped into the machine, threw on the power and attempted to run over him.

Hartwell is convinced the machine came to Lima and has enlisted the aid of the local authorities in an attempt to have them captured. Although he could not state for certain Hartwell says the man who was run over was badly injured. A search of the city hospitals fails to reveal any person who had apparently been injured in an accident of the sort described.

Authorities have but one clue to work on. A machine containing two men and several women passed through here at 2 o'clock this morning, evidently bound for Toledo. They do not put much credence in Hartwell's story that the attire of the "women" was a disguise and are inclined to regard the matter rather than as a desperate attempt at highway robbery.

CHIEF THINKS FIRE INCENDIARY WORK.

Mystery still surrounds the origin of a small blaze at the home of Mrs. Mary Maus, 210 south Central avenue, last night which was extinguished before it had made any headway. Chief Mack who conducted an investigation this morning declares he believes the fire was of incendiary origin, although but little proof was found which would tend to bear out this theory.

A small hole in the wall which apparently ran through to the wall to the westward was found by the chief. Out of this was drawn several pieces of a broken lamp. Traces of oil were found on the wall while a large gasoline can was found directly under the origin of the fire.

Not satisfied with the results of the investigation this morning a deeper investigation will be carried on probably with the aid of the state fire marshal.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Students Held Annual Banquet.

The second annual banquet of the Educational Department of the Y. M. C. A. was held last evening at the Association building and over forty of the students enjoyed an excellent feast for both mind and body.

The principal speakers were Mr. George L. Newson, president of the Newson-Hawthorne Co., and Mr. B. A. Gramm, president of the Y. M. C. A. Both of these gentlemen spoke of the value of vocational training, the former in commercial lines and the latter in the field of industry. Mr. Newson set forth in a very forcible way that if the young man wishes to succeed today he must train himself for the work he aspires to do. If he is a clerk he must study to become the best possible clerk, seeking to develop all the traits that make to the expert salesman. The man who knows how to do his work a little better than some "one else" is the man being sought by employers and is the man who is getting the highest pay, and the most satisfaction from his work.

Training and everlastingly persistency is the price of success in every field of endeavor, and Mr. Newson illustrated this from the lives of Cyrus W. Field and A. T. Stewart, the great merchant prince. Mr. Gramm, speaking for the industries emphasized what the speaker before him had so strongly said, that training was everything for the man who wants to get ahead, and the need for trained men in the shops and factories of this country is far in excess of the supply. The schools of this nation are not turning out men trained for the mechanical arts as is the case in Europe, and the efforts of the Y. M. C. A. of our cities in vocational education is the most fundamental need of the industries today. The strange part of conditions, however, is the apathy of young men themselves to the opportunities that are afforded them. While the Lima Association had an enrollment of 86.88 more than last year, there ought to be in a city the size of Lima a thousand men and boys studying in their spare hours some line of work that will make them more efficient. Mr. Gramm is an enthusiast in this educational work and says next year the students must be numbered by the hundreds.

Other short talks were made by Mr. L. C. Evans of the Salesmanship class, Clinton Wright of the Mechanical Drawing class, T. C. Harris of the law class, Mr. C. E. Little of the new men, Mr. C. E. Little representing the Faculty and F. A. Harknord representing the Alumni. The latter stated that he had done his first work in the Association night school seventeen years ago and that he was through yet. Mr. W. J. McLaughlin, Chairman of the Educational Committee acted as Toastmaster. All those present voted the occasion the most successful.

For the splendid service at the banquet the new ladies of the Market Street Presbyterian church. Reception to New Members. OIL OFFICES TO BE MOVED

New Division Will be Added to the Territory Now Under Locals.

MACKSBURG DIVISION IS ORDERED TO LIMA

Twelve Men and Families to Move to Lima Next Saturday.

The offices of the Macksburg Division of the Buckeye Pipeline Company are to be moved to Lima. This information has come through direct and authentic sources, and promised that in one week this entire office force will be brought here. The Macksburg Division has been that part of the state in the southern corner, including in the largest degree the field in the vicinity of Marietta. The offices that have been ordered to Lima are those that have charge of all the oil in this territory, the storing and the piping of it.

This has been a division of the Buckeye, but the offices have been located for the time past in Pittsburgh. It has seemed to the authorities that it would be much more satisfactory to have this division under the direct supervision of O. S. June, the general superintendent. The vacancy of several of the rooms in the big office building of the corner of North and Elizabeth streets has made this removal possible.

This change will bring to Lima about 12 new men and their families, totaling an influx of over 25 people. This will further mean that the wage total at the offices here with this new force of men will be greatly increased; perhaps to the extent of several thousand dollars per month. This would indeed be a great thing for Lima, and one that this city cannot afford to pass up.

The incoming in no small matter in these days of recent high cost of living, and the Lima merchants are rejoicing that this crowd is soon to come. Work of the offices of the Macksburg Division will begin in the Lima office on the 28th of this month.

TO STIR UP INTEREST IN THE CORN CONTEST

Prominent Men Deliver Addresses to Encourage Farmer Boys to Enter Corn Contest.

Attorney Elmer McClain spoke at Morris chapel in Marion township last evening, stirring up new interest among the farmers and urging them to encourage their boys in entering the corn contest, with the trip to Washington as a prize at the end. The same as last year, Attorney McClain's territory took him into the district which was at the top in the Allen county contest last fall.

A meeting was held in Bath township, at which time David E. Baxter was the speaker. Attorney Otis Lippincott went to Rockport, on a like mission. The speakers emphasized the reasons why business men were glad to contribute money to pay the expenses of the boys to Washington to secure larger crops and better quality.

NEWS OF POLICE COURT

The bold, daring and mysterious "robbery" of the display case of Dr. L. Hudson, in front of the Holmes block, when it was reported, $20 worth of lenses, nose glasses, goggles and reading glasses were "stolen" was solved today when the "thief" was returned to police headquarters.

According to the story told, the case was broken by a midnight son, who attempted to grab the display as it went whirling by him. His hold was bad and his fist went through the glass. The Samaritan who was leading the inebriate home picked up the scattered display and took them home with him for safe keeping. Police this afternoon returned the goods to Dr. Hudson.

Sentence Suspended. Sentence of $5 and costs and a suspended work house sentence of 60 days was imposed upon Alfred Mastropole, 17, by Mayor Shook this morning in police court. Mastropole voluntarily surrendered to the police last night when he heard he was being looked for on a warrant charging him with complicity in an assault upon Prentiss Lawrence, South Lima advertiser.

Mastropole is the first capture made by the police on warrants sworn out for three alleged members of the "Skinner" gang. Two others, Fred DeVoe and Earl Burke, are still at large.

Two other members of the gang are wanted for the alleged assault upon W. D. Darling, which occurred last fall. Darling was stabbed and for some time was in a serious condition. Mastropole admitted DeVoe and Burke were drunk at the time of the assault. Mayor Shook has ordered an investigation with the hope of apprehending saloonists who are said to make a habit of selling liquor to minors. All three of the trio wanted by the police are under arrest.

Prosecutor Gets Buy. Payment of fines imposed upon them by Judge Klinger or immediate arrest and imprisonment in the county jail, are the two alternatives in front of Charles W. Hultinger, former saloonist, and Saloonists Flynn and Reider. The men were convicted in common pleas court of operating slot machine. The court of appeals recently sustained the ruling of the lower court. Last night peremptory orders were issued by Prosecutor Weadock to Sheriff Watt to the effect that if the fines were not immediately paid the men were to be arrested. In the ruling of the court of appeals it was stated the men were to stand committed to the county jail until the fines be paid.

Hultinger this morning paid $300 to the clerk as fine and costs imposed. The costs in the Hultinger case amounted to $150. Warrants were sworn out for the arrest of Reider, but the saloonist hurried to the clerk's office with $249 before the sheriff had apprehended him. In common pleas court Reider had fined $100 upon each of three indictments. The court of appeals, however, relieved him of two of the points, making his total fine $100.

The case of Cornelius T. Flynn, who had been fined $300 by the court of common pleas, is still pending, a new trial having been ordered on the grounds that there was irregularity in the formation of the jury. Flynn is endeavoring to settle by payment of the original fine, but Prosecutor Weadock is determined to carry the case to the supreme court to decide the legal question as to whether or not there was error in the formation of the jury.

"It Was in the Air." Police court opened this morning with an unusual attendance. By far the greatest amount of drunks arrested at any time this week were brought in Friday night. Police attribute the wave to the opening up of the spring weather and the flow of back beer is said to have lent an added stimulus to the bibulous.

An Old Offender. On the charge of being an old offender, J. W. Stewart, arrested yesterday evening by Officers McCoy and Stewart, was fined $5 and costs. Since Stewart was unable to come across, he is an addition to the stone gang in the rear of the city prison.

William Smith, automobile repairman, was another one of the unfortunate. Smith was arrested by Officer McCoy on east High street. His fine was $5 and costs. Jack Sullivan, Jim Lappin, Pat Holmes, W. M. Bressler, Frank Moore, Carl Phillips and J. W. Cook were also among those present. Each of the gentlemen was fined $1 and costs. In Trouble Two Ways. Charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct and fined $1 and costs each by Mayor Shook in police court, this morning, Clarence Sergeant and Alex Haggard are being held at the police station to await trial in Justice Everett's court this afternoon on a charge of having attempted to defraud an innkeeper. The men were arrested at the complaint of the proprietor of the Mint cafe and restaurant, on east Market street, who alleges that when he ordered the men from the place they refused to leave. He also charges they owe him two weeks board.

Before Justice Everett. Alex Haggard and Clarence Sergeant were this afternoon arraigned before Justice of the Peace, Emmitt E. Everett, on a charge of obtaining board and lodging under false pretense and departing without settling the account, though no arrangement nor agreement had been made with the proprietor. Both of the defendants entered their pleas of not guilty to the charge, and their trial was set for Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. They were arrested on a charge that was preferred against them by C. E. Feifer, the proprietor of the Mint restaurant.

Cattle Swung on Miller. Because he passed the fighting word and because William Cattle, was not the sort of a person to stand for it, Louis Miller, driver for a local packing house appeared before Mayor Shook this morning and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Cattle charging him with assault. Cattle was tried before Mayor Shook this afternoon and fined five dollars and costs. Blessing of Innocence. Unaware of the fact that she had escaped a horrible death under the wheels of a freight train and not seeming to understand the full import of all the disruption she had caused her mother and the police department, Mary, the six year old daughter of Mrs. Wanda Lampher, 331 Elm street, sat on Sergeant Waters' desk at the police station today, calmly and plainly fascinated and pleased with the amount of attention shown her. The child who had left home to discover a few worldly secrets for herself was picked up by a passerby who saw her step from the tracks of the C. H. & D. railroad just before a heavy freight train passed.
